

Jusna Ninah Perrin (she/her) joins the Ally Theatre Company's board of directors with 10 years of nonprofit experience. She began her career as the first-hire of Reach Incorporated, a DC-based literacy nonprofit that trains teens to tutor elementary school students in reading, providing remediation for both populations. She also served as the Director of Employer Partnerships for Urban Alliance, a national organization that aims to provide young people with equal access to skills training, paid work experiences, and professional networks needed to achieve economic mobility. She is now based in Brooklyn, NY, studying and building an offering as a somatic embodiment practitioner, as well as supporting nonprofits as a consultant. Although no longer based in DC, Jusna still considers herself to be an advocate and ally for the district's most vulnerable populations.
